HITN and NET-TV join forces to Live Stream Good Friday and Easter Sunday Masses from Saint Joseph Co-Cathedral in Brooklyn

Many places of worship across the US are preparing for Holy Week and finding alternate ways to offer religious services to their parishioners during the COVID-19 outbreak. HITN (Hispanic Information Telecommunications Network and NET-TV (New Evangelization Television), the premier Catholic network <https://netny.tv/> are partnering together to bring “SEMANA SANTA EN TU CASA” (“Holy Week at home”), a series of live streamed services to help homebound parishioners and their families celebrate Good Friday and Easter Sunday together as a community.

The streamed services can be viewed on <https://hitn.tv/misa> or on NET-TV (check your local listings).

Live Stream services are as follows:

Good Friday Services at 12:30PM ET

Easter Mass Sunday at 12pm ET

HITN launched an extensive line of content and services to help Hispanic families cope during the Coronavirus threat. HITN’s health and wellness platform, Vida Y Salud, <https://www.vidaysalud.com/> has taken action in the face of the COVID-19 pandemic by providing educational resources, reliable information and advisory services in real time to Spanish Speaking families in the US and Latin America. Additionally, Vida Y Salud has created a robust microsite that provides the latest information and recommendations from the CDC about coronavirus pandemic and its management in Spanish-language. The site is complemented by newsletters sent directly to the subscribers’ emails and by several daily posts in social media. In addition to this, vida y salud has created a specially dedicated microsite offering special content dedicated to helping viewers stay active and relaxed while at home or under quarantine, including exercise, yoga, and meditation programs, as well as creative ideas that include activities to do with the whole family without leaving home. Semana Santa en Tu Casa is another service that provides a platform for the community to unite and pray together during Holy Week and while religious organizations remain closed in response to COVID-19. Visit hitn.tv and celebrate Easter with your family at home!
